- "tip" and

Try "Ceres" Flour.

Success in baking always follows the use of "Ceres" Flour. It is the best and purest flour in the market, and invariably yields the lightest, whitest and most wholesome bread and rolls. A trial will prove more than we could tell.

"Ceres" Flour is sold by all grocers. Refuse substitutes.

October, with its increased number of weddings, has again rolled around, finding us, as for many years before, thoroughly ready with the only correct styles in wedding footwear—slippers, boudoir footwear, traveling and carriage footwear and a complete assortment of footwear for wear while on the bridal tour.

Particular people—those who desire distinctive elegance and metropolitan correctness—have this store's progressiveness to thank in bringing to you the "swell" footwear to be had in New York.

Riding continues to be the most pleasurable diversion in social circles. The correct footwear for it is here—the novelties such as are worn by the best known riders of this country. Boots and leg-gings of every leather of which fashionable boots and leg-gings are made.

In addition to this very complete showing of riding boots we show also the newest fashions in golfing and shooting footwear—and the right sort of boots for those who will go out on government expeditions of surveying and in the interest of forestry—thick, watertight, impenetrable footwear which protects the feet and limbs and withstands the roughest wear.

GREETED THE CHIEF

Ladies' Night at Convention

Hall.

BRILLIANT FUNCTION

LADIES IN RICH GOWNS, GENTLE-

MEN IN GAY UNIFORMS.

Mrs. Roosevelt to Give a Reception

This Afternoon at Corcoran

Gallery of Art.

Convention Hall was a scene of gaiety and splendor last evening. Three receptions of women's organizations were held,

and from the time the doors of the hall auditorium were opened until the close there was a steady stream of visitors anxious to meet Commander-in-Chief Torrance and to mingle with the women who have done so much to make the organizations a success.

Rarely has a more delightful function of the kind been held in Washington. Many rich gowns were worn by the women, the veterans were in uniform, and the affair had every suggestion, other than in magnitude, to a private rather than a public affair.

The Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, of which Mrs. Emma S. Wall is president, and the members of her staff, received Commander-in-Chief Torrance and the official staff from 8 to 9 o'clock. Mrs.

Wall and the ladies with her occupied positions at the opposite side of the hall from the platform. They stood in line, and the visitors passed them and were presented in turn. The ladies shook hands with the visitors, as did Commander and Mrs. Torrance. Before the first reception a section of the Marine Band, under the direction of Prof. Stanteimann, discoursed patriotic airs.

The members of the official staff of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic who were in line were: Mrs. Emma Wall, national president, Kansas; Mrs. Annie

Michener, national treasurer, Pennsylvania;

Mrs. Anna L. Dyke Lennard, national secretary, Kansas; Mrs. Edna Lee Tobey, national secretary, Pennsylvania; Mrs. Isobel

Wagoner, national senior vice president, California; Mrs. Jennie B. Hornell, national junior vice president, Kentucky;

Mrs. L. C. Brainerd, national chaplain,

New York; Mrs. Maria Denison, national inspector, Kansas; Mrs. Ella E. Wade, national press chairman, Kansas; Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, Mrs. Isabel

Worrell Ball, Mrs. Laura Lemmon, Mrs.

Emma Aline Hawkes of Washington, D.

C. Mrs. Emma Foster, department

president of Kansas, also assisted Mrs.

Wall.

The auditorium had the same decorations as on the previous evening. The reception of the national encampment was held, and which was addressed by Secretary Root, Gen. Smith, Commissioner

Macfarland and other distinguished men.

On every side were American flags, and the canopy above was in harmony with the rest of the surroundings.

The fact that three receptions were held the same evening brought to the hall a large throng of people that evening that was estimated at least 5,000 persons. The majority of those who attended were women, although hundreds of veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic called to pay their respects.

Woman's Relief Corps.

The reception of the Woman's Relief

Corps was held from 6 to 7 o'clock. To one who was unfamiliar with the conditions it was a continuous reception. Mrs.

Callista Robinson Jones, the national president, did the honors, and she was assisted by her staff. The following ladies were Harris, senior vice president; Mrs. Minnie Kyle, junior vice president; Mrs. Sarah B.

Phillips, treasurer; Mrs. Eliza G. Brown, national secretary; Mrs. Mary M. North,

national press instructor;

Mrs. Mary M. North, national press correspondent; Mrs. Belle T. Bagley, chief of staff; Mrs. Fannie D. Bagley, and Mrs.

Rachel A. Hall, I. and I. officer.

There were also in line the past national president, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Stanley, national president, and staff; Ladies' Aid Society, Mrs. Mary M. North, national president, and staff; National Association of United States Army, Mrs. Margaret B.

Dixon, president, and staff; Women's National Association Auxiliary to United

Veterans, Mrs. Elizabeth B. Stanley, national president, and staff; National

Veterans' Union, Mrs. Belle S. Morgan, president and staff.

The ladies of the executive committee who assisted Mrs. Mussey were Mrs. Rosamond B. Meacham, Mrs. Henrietta N. Rose,

Mrs. Laura V. Meacham, Mrs. Joseph W.

Worrell Ball, Mrs. Joseph W. Babcock,

Mrs. Benjamin F. Bingham, Mrs. Barry
